The last year has shown that when you send New Democrats to Ottawa, we get results. Jagmeet and I will keep fighting for you.

Julia is a practicing clinical psychologist and adjunct professor at the University of Manitoba. She's deeply passionate about helping everyone get the mental health services they need.

Dedicated to community organizing and volunteering, she's helped support community centres and organizations, including the Freeskool movement.

Julia knows that Ottawa needs to work for you, not the ultra-rich. She's ready to tackle the climate crisis, invest in affordable housing, and support good jobs in our community.
